Keyboard Shortcuts Keyboard shortcuts help you to improve your productivity when working with AutoCAD. These are shortcuts that can be mapped to keystrokes on your computer keyboard, so you can perform certain operations without having to move your hand from the keyboard. You can add, remove, and reorder shortcuts on the AutoCAD Preferences screen. Shortcuts are added by selecting the menu at the bottom right of the window. Click a shortcut to go to the corresponding tool or menu on the ribbon. You can also assign a shortcut keystroke for each of the commands. This means you don't need to click the ribbon in order to use the command, just type it on the keyboard. Shortcuts take priority over default commands. That means that if you have assigned a shortcut to a command in your keyboard shortcuts preferences, and if that command is already mapped to a keyboard shortcut, then that shortcut will be used when you press the corresponding key combination on your keyboard.
